
One man can ruin everything.

For the past 3 years I have had what seemed the perfect driving job and wondered when it would change ?

I have found out :-(

Our new dispatcher is the biggest inhuman asshole on the planet.

I actually quit on thursday duing a row with the wanker and was promptly begged to stay by the terminal manager and an appology from twat himself which no doubt was completely in-sincere and now I will never believe anything the bastard tells me in the future.

I hate you Eric :angry:

I now will have to watch my back and double check everything because he will do everything in his power to get me fired.
